Food and Snack Preparation for Your Boot Camp

- Provide a Light Breakfast (OR) Dinner (see boot camp agendas below)
 - For a morning boot camp, prepare a light breakfast, coffee, and juice as people arrive prior to the training. Sausage biscuits, donuts, and fruit work well for this. Quick availability is essential.
 - For an afternoon boot camp, prepare a light box dinner, cookie, and can drinks for people during the training. Sandwich boxes or pizza work well for this. Quick availability is essential.
- Provide Nice Snacks and Drinks (see boot camp agendas below)
 - For a morning boot camp, prepare nice snacks and drinks for people at the midpoint of the training.
 - For an afternoon boot camp, prepare nice snacks and drinks for people as they arrive prior to the training.

Room Set Up and Enlisting Storytellers for your Boot Camp

- Set up Tables and Chairs – Set up tables in conference style with chairs facing the trainer.
- Set up Additional Tables – Set up tables for food/snacks and a table for the display of D-Life resources.
- Set up Chairs for Model D-Groups – Set up five chairs across the front for modeling a D-Group.
- Set up Sound and Mics – Set up sound with lapel/headset for trainer and additional mics for modeling a D-Group.
- Enlist Storytellers – Enlist a male to briefly tell the Bible story in Matthew 4:18-25 and a female for Titus 2:1-8.

Prepare Checks for your Boot Camp Trainer

- Prepare Honorarium Check – An honorarium in the range of $400 is suggested by our publisher at Life Bible Study.
- Prepare Expenses Check – For tax purposes, please prepare a separate check for the trainer's expenses including roundtrip mileage reimbursement at the standard IRS rate (OR) costs for airfare. If overnight stay is required, include a $230 per diem for each night's lodging to cover hotel costs, parking fees, travel meals, and etc.
